I just thought it was important to keep talking about racism & how it affects the black community. Black people are still being treated differently & killed at way higher rates than is ok. We watched the Bully (2011) movie, discussed all the different societal issues, had a socratic seminar, then began our art.