LESSON 7

Anticipation Guide

Assess each statement, and fill in the appropriate column before, during and after reading.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>STATEMENT</th>
<th>BEFORE READING</th>
<th>DURING READING</th>
<th>AFTER READING</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Statistically, the majority of illegal drug users are white and drug dealers are black.</td>
<td>What do I think before reading? (yes/no, true/false, agree/disagree)</td>
<td>What does Alexander claim? (yes/no, true/false, agree/disagree)</td>
<td>Evidence from text that supports Alexander’s claim (include quote or page/paragraph/line #)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>White motorists are more likely than people of color to be carrying illegal drugs in their cars.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crack and cocaine are similar drugs and carry similar punishments for possession.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Respond to the questions below after reading the excerpt and completing the anticipation guide.

Revisit your before-reading responses. Have any changed? How so? Why?

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

Compare your before-reading responses to what Alexander writes. How different were your initial responses from what you learned during reading?

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

How does Alexander use evidence to support her claims? What kind of evidence? Is it persuasive? Conclusive?

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

Do you disagree with any of the listed claims that Alexander makes? Which one(s) and why? Given the textual evidence you cite, what counterclaims are you prepared to make?

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________